Chapter 334: The Eternal Harmony

As the Divine Nexus Network flourished, the multiverse basked in an era of unprecedented prosperity. Realms that once operated in isolation now thrived through collaboration and shared resources. This harmony extended to every corner of existence, reflecting Sung Jin-Woo’s divine vision.

The Blossoming of Civilization

Through the interconnected realms, civilizations rapidly advanced:

1. Earth:

Mana-based technology reached levels rivaling divine creations, with human inventors crafting tools and machines that astonished even the Shadowkins.

Cities glimmered with mana lights, and humans explored other realms via Nexus Gates, forming alliances and trade networks.

2. Shadowverse:

The high elves, high humans, and high dwarves perfected their crafts, creating divine architecture and shadow-forged weapons admired by all.

3. Dragonkin Realms:

The dragons and wyverns developed intricate cultures, blending raw power with refined artistry, producing awe-inspiring creations.

The Council of Realms

Sung Jin-Woo established the Council of Realms, a governing body comprising representatives from all major races and civilizations.

Purpose:

To mediate disputes and foster cooperation among realms.

To ensure the spread of knowledge and technology without exploitation.

The council convened in Umbra Citadel, a neutral ground where all voices could be heard under the watchful eye of the Divine Triad.

The Evolution of Sung Jin-Woo’s Power

As harmony spread, Sung Jin-Woo’s divinity continued to grow. His power became a beacon for all creation, uniting the multiverse under a single guiding light.

The Fourth Divine Jewel:

A new jewel formed within Sung Jin-Woo, located in his forehead.

It symbolized wisdom and insight, granting him absolute understanding of the multiverse’s intricate threads.

With this evolution, Sung Jin-Woo’s All-Seeing Eyes expanded their reach, perceiving every event, emotion, and thought across existence.

The Eternal Battlefields and Gladiator's Arenas

To ensure the multiverse’s peace, Sung Jin-Woo redirected destructive tendencies to realms designed for endless battles.

Key Features:

1. Virtual Wars:

Participants fought in simulated environments where no real harm occurred.

2. Rewards and Glory:

Victors earned divine blessings, treasures, and recognition, fueling their desire for growth.

3. A Proving Ground:

A space for warriors to hone their skills and prepare for potential threats from beyond the multiverse.

Sung Jin-Woo’s Address to the Multiverse

From the Throne of Umbra Citadel, Sung Jin-Woo addressed all beings:

“Peace does not mean the absence of strength. Harmony does not mean the absence of challenges. Together, we have built a multiverse that thrives not on war, but on unity. Continue to grow, to learn, and to rise above your limits. Through your strength, you honor me, and through my guidance, I honor you. Let us stand as one, eternally unyielding.”

The Divine Triad’s Reflection

Gathered once more, the Divine Triad—Sung Jin-Woo, Ashborn, and Sung Su-Ho—observed the fruits of their labor.

Sung Su-Ho:
“Father, your vision has come to life. The multiverse flourishes like never before.”

Ashborn:
“You have surpassed even the Absolute Being. What you’ve built is not power for power’s sake, but power for the sake of life.”

Sung Jin-Woo’s eyes shone with divine brilliance.
“This is just the beginning. The multiverse is infinite, and so is the potential of its inhabitants. Let us guide them to heights even we cannot yet imagine.”

An Era of Eternal Harmony

The multiverse entered an age of stability and progress, united under the benevolent rule of the Divine Triad. Peace reigned, civilizations flourished, and the light of Sung Jin-Woo’s divinity illuminated all corners of existence.

The Absolute One had not only reshaped reality—he had redefined it.